PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COMMISSION PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COMMISSION— BHS.—At their regular diurnal session, yes-terday morning, the County Commissioners passed orders which amounted to the ag-gregate to $47.85; of which $20.85 were paid to Charles Farney, and the balance to John Vogel, No other business was trans-acted. acted.

BURGLARY IN COURT-STREET.-The res dence of a man named Benjamin Sedwick, in Court-street, near Baymiller, was feloniously entered, night before last, and robbed of money and other articles, amounting to nearly $80. The burglars aroused the inmates, but escaped without detection.

Boy DROWNED .- A lad named Thoma Johnston, whose parents reside in Front-street, near Race, was accidentally drowned. last evening, by falling from a skiff into the river. Persons were busily engaged during the early portion of the night in dragging for the body, but up to a late hour their efforts had been unsuccessful.

MISS VAUGHAN'S READINGS,-This lady ariss vaccions from modern poets to a small audience, at the Literary Club-room, last evening. Her appearance is attractive, and she read in good taste and with excellent effect. To entertain an audience by select or dramatic readings, is a formidable under-taking, but a taste for the accomplishment of reading well is much cultivated by these ex-hibitions; and, in spite of our general system of education, it is an art which is very gen-

MRS. ELLEN MOGRIER. CINCINIATI, September 24,

Eighteenth Exhibition of the Ohio Mechanics' Institute. More Entries-The Attendance-Douglas One of the Visitors Grand Batt-Articles Deserving Particular Mention,

Although the Mechanics' Fair has been open to the public for two weeks, the new entries are numerous. The collection will no open to the public for two weeks, at new entries are numerous. The collection will no doubt be still further augmented during the remainder of this week. The machine department, in particular, has received large accessions recently; and that which at first appeared to draw little attention, has become, in a great measure, particularly in the evening, the great center of attraction; and though, from various causes, this particular part of the exhibition is inferior to that of last year, as far as it regards the numbers and variety of the things entered, yet those that are on exhibition are of the best quality, and display, in no ordinary degree, evidences of the high state of perfection attained by the machinists of the West.

The Art Gallery has not received any accessions of consequence since our last notice. It continues, however, to attract the attention of visitors as much as ever, and certainly deserves the consideration it receives. The deserves the consideration it receives. The great improvement in the photographic specimens, since last year, is universally noticed, and exhibits a satisfactory progress in an art whose value can not be too highly stimated.

The attendance yesterday, on account of cestimated.

The attendance yesterday, on account of the weather, was not great, but was much better in the evening than in the forenoen. We have no data from which to judge of the amount of the aggregate receipts, up to this time, but are assured that, should the daily attendance continue undiminished until the 5th of October, the time designated for closing the exhibition, a fair profit will accrue to the society, a result greatly to be desired.

Among the visitors yesterday, was Judge Douglas, an invited guest, who spont half an bour at the Fair-rooms, about noon. His presence caused the Society to realize several dollars, from persons who went in merely to gratify their curiosity in seeing a candidate for the Presidency—a sight that can not always be purchased for a quarter. The Judge treated his admirers in his best style, and those who saw him, no doubt felt that they had received the worth of their money.

The exhibition will close on the 5th of next month, with a grand ball for the benefit next month, with a grand ball for the benefit of the Institute. As some of our most influ-of the Institute. As some of our most influential citizens, such as Larz Anderson, J. J. Dobmeyer, John A. Gurley and others, are among the managers, there is no doubt that a handsome sum may be realized.

Among the many things on exhibition worthy of note, is a kind of improved coal oil, almost entirely without smell, and which emits a light equal, if not superior, to the kind already in use. Also, a variety of lamps, adapted to the use of the fluid in question, which are not only useful, but highly ornamental. Both the oil and lamps can be had at the store of J. L. Drake & Co., No. 11 West Fourth-street.

J. R. Hoole & Co., No. 31 East Third-street, have on exhibition a new apparatus for paging blank books, which is better adapted to the purpose than any thing of the kind ever invented. It distributes its own ink, and works with a speed never be-own ink, and works with a speed never be-fore reached. It is so constructed as to number from one to 10,000, and, were it ne-cessary, could be made to go beyond the latter figures. All our book-binders should examine it forthwith.

Venitian Assassination-Revolting and Sangainary Murder-A Citizen Stabbed to the Heart in a Public Thoroughfare. About one o'clock this morning Officer Hinson found a man, whom he supposed to be drunk, sitting in a doorway leading into the jewelry establishment of Charles Owen, on the north-west corner of Fourth and Main. After an effort to arouse him, he rapped for assistance, which arrived in a few minutes, but he then discovered that the man, who was alive when first seen, was man, who was alive when first seen, was

The man was taken to the Hammond-stree Station-house, and Dr. Beck called, who found a wound, near the right nipple, one inch long, extending upward and inward about five inches, and evidently piercing the about five inches, and evidently piercing the right suricle of the heart.

Nothing is known in regard to the homicide, but a man named Knabe is suspected, for the following reasons: In company with two others, he was passing along Fourth-street and when near the corner of Main, met a couple of men, one of whom is supposed to be the deceased and who insulted him.

The parties stopped, and some words passed, when the supposed companion of the deceased said, "I'll shoot you," where-upon Knabe ran down Main-street, along Third and into an alley, adjoining the St. Charles, followed by Officer Lemanowsky. He was not arrested, although the officer diligently searched the premises into which he fied.

The deceased was identified, and proved to be a well-known citizen named George Gue-lich, who resides with his parents, at the corner of Arch and Ludlow. He was about twenty-six years of age, and unmarried. The hour at which the homicide was committed, and the mystery that surrounds it, necessarily prevent any extended account of this horrible affair, which, in many respects, is an exact counterpart of the recent revolting Crawley assassination. MELANCHOLY SUIGIDE—A Man Cuts His Throat with a Piece of Glass.—Night before last, a man named John Fortune, who boarded near the corner of Mill and Third with a family named Riley, cut his throat, and upon being removed to the Commercial Hospital, died in about three hours. Yesterday morning, Coroner Carey was called upon, and held an inquest upon the body, which resulted in a verdict in accordance with the facts we have related.

The deceased was about thirty-five years of age, a native of Ireland, and unmarried. He has for some time past been addicted to intexicating drinks, and at the time of destroying himself was evidently laboring under a malignant attack of delirium tremeas.

He had repeatedly threatened to kill him-self, but had been deprived of every thing in the shape of a weapon, when his fancy sug-gested the use of a piece of glass. Accord-ingly, upon being left alone, about eight o'clock, he seized a mirror, broke it, and, with the sharp edge of one of the fragments, literally cut his threat from ear to ear half literally cut his throat from ear to ear, half severing his head from his body. Medical aid was immediately called, but notwith-standing this, after suffering until eleven o'clock, he died.

Commitment of an Applement Honse-thing.—Night before last, a man named James Gerwe left his horse and buggy, while he entered National Hall, No. 200 Vine-street, for the purpose of taking a drink; but when he returned his vehicle was gone. With the assistance of a policeman, the thief, named John Stanley, was overtaken at the corner of Fifth and Walnut and carried to the station-house. Yesterday morning he was before Judge Lowe, and, after an examination, committed to jail in default of bail in the sum of $1,000, to answer a charge of grand larceny before the next term of the Court of Common Pleas.

DISCHARGE OF AN ALLEGED DEALER IN COUNTERFEIT COIN.—A few days ago we gave an account of the arrest of a man named George Buchanan, upon a charge of deating in counterfeit coin, together with a recital of the delicate manner in which he sold some members of our relies force by selling than of the delicate manner in which he solutions members of our police force by selling them a box filled with lead and shot, instead of spurious money. As we unticipated, he was arraigned before Judge Lowe yesterday morning on a charge of vagrancy and was discharged, a nolle proseque having been entered in the case.

A STUBBORN WITNESS AND A BELLIGERENT A STUBBORN WITNESS AND A BELLIGERENT WIFE.—Rosanna Dickson, alias Bowen, whose arrest we have already noticed, on a charge of passing counterfeit coin, was arraigned before Justice Marchant, yesterday, for examination. The prosecuting witness, a confectioner at the corner of Sycamore and Pearl, named Patrick Collins, did not make his appearance, and a messenger was sent to bring him into Court. He refused to comply with the request, when the Magistrate called upon him, but still he refused. Constable Carr was therefore dispatched with authority to bring him in; but, with the witness, patience had ceased to be a virtue, and ness, patience had ceased to be a virtue, and the force of the officer was met with a deter-mined resistance. The wife of Collins used her hands and tongue, but whether the ears or face of the constable were most abused we are uninformed. The witness was finally brought into Court, but would give no reason for his absence, save that he did not wish to come." The case was dismissed upon the payment of the costs by the defend-

[Specially Reported for the Daily, Press.] THE STATE FAIR.

THIRD DAY. DATTON, September 27, 1860.

This morning dawned cold, moddy, wet and every way disagreeable, and many were the long faces and numerous the violations of the Third Commandment, which testified to the disappointment of the thousands whose promised enjoyment was thus so sadly marred. This was to have been the great day of the Fair, and all those who could spend but one day here had selected this one, not only because every body else had done so, but because, also, the romor had been industrieusly circulated that the Prince was to be present to-day, and perhaps make a speech, and to see and hear a real Prince would be, to many of our democratic, royalty-despising people, an event in a liferoyalty-despising people, an event in a life-time. Judge, then, whether there was not some cause for ill-humor, when the long-anticipated day brought with it the most un-timely storm. In spite, however, of the weather, the morning train brought a very respectable number of new visitors, and these were joined by enough from town to these were joined by enough from town to make the day's receipts at the gate about $1,000—very good for a rainy day.

The storm has rather interfered with the exhibition of out-door machinery and the exercises of the stock ring, and the attention of visitors has been principally confined to the different halls. These presented the usual array of articles so well known to fair-goers, but not many things possessing much the different halls. These presented the usual array of articles so well known to fairgoers, but not many things possessing much novelty or any especial interest. There is the usual number of patent churns, pamps, plows, hay-cutters, and washing machines; sewing-machines, mammoth pumpkins and patch-work quilts, every one of them, of course, vastly superior, in the opinion of the owner, to any thing of the kind ever seen before, but whose excellence, unlackily, is seldem discoverable by any body else.

I did see to-day, a washing-machine which seemed to be really a serviceable article, inasmuch as its action more resembles than any other one I have seen, the only system of washing which has satisfactorily stood the test of experience. I mean the old-fashioned knuckles and wash-board.

It is the invention of W. T. Armstrong, of West Hebron, N. Y., and consists simply of a tub or box with a semicircular bottom, fluted like an ordinary washing-board, on which a rubber, made to resemble a series of human knuckles, is worked back and forth in such a manner that the articles in the tub are alternately soaked, squeezed and rubbed as in ordinary washing. Should any particular garment, or part of one, require more cleansing than the rest, by simply aftaching it to a clasp on the rubber, it may be rubbed as much as desired. The machine more cleansing than the rest, by simply attaching it to a clasp on the rubber, it may be rubbed as much as desired. The machine is simple, cheap and easily worked, and will wash as many or as few pieces at once as may be wished. When the horses came forth, it became When the horses came forth, it became evident that the advantage lay with "Planet," he looking the perfection of good condition, while "Congaree," though also presenting a fine appearance, was not all that could be desired, being a little out of sorts. The report was that he had refused his feed. Two boys officiated as jockeys, Jesse, a colored boy, guiding "Planet," and Louis "Congarece."

The odds generally offered and taken were one hundred to thirty and thirty-five on "Planet," but several offers were made and readily taken at one hundred to twenty-five on the Virginia colt. After showing, the two horses were brought up for the start, and the word was given as they crossed the score, with "Planet" on the inside and "Congaree" leading by almost a length, an advantage soon lost by his rider pulling him in. "Planet" took up the running, and accomplishing the quarter with a lead of two lengths. Here "Congaree" let out a little, and made an offer to join company with his antagonist, but "Planet" refused to accept, and passed the half-mile pole with a clear and made an offer to join company with his antagonist, but "Planet" refused to accept, and passed the half-mile pole with a clear lead of two lengths. "Congaree," however, was not to be got rid of so easily. He made a pretty race around the upper turn, swinging into the home-stretch, and coming down the straight course in fine style, lapping "Planet" at the distance, but unable to get his nose in front of the Virginian's quarters. As they flew past the stand "Planet" was barely clear of his competitor, and entering the first turn on the second mile the game Carolinian again hung on "Planet's" quarters, but was shaken off as they rounded it and drew near the quarter pole. One more unavailing struggle was made as they approached the half-mile pole, but "Planet" was too fleet for his opponent, and increased his lead until he was five lengths in advance, as they entered the third mile. At this interval they ran to the quarter and down the back stretch, when all "Congaree's" chances vanished—Lesse letting out the Doswell colt, who gained rapidly, passing the judges' stand with almost thirty yards space intervening. This advantage was continually increased throughout the fourth mile, "Congaree's" jockey pulling him up when a distance seemed inevitable. "Planet" won the heat, and also the race, in 7 min, 39 sec.

Collarshor a Balloon—Marvelous Escape of an Eromant.—The ascension of Prof. Wise, in his beautiful balloon, the "Skylark," from Petersburg, Va., on Thursday lark," from petersburg, Va., on Thursday lark," from Petersburg, Va., on Thursday afternoon, came near ending seriously. He reached an altitude of about one mile, and all this time gas was slowly excaping from a small rent, accidentally made in the balloon before starting. The Petersburg Express says: "When about one thousand feet from the earth, and directly over the field, the fissure in the balloon rapidly enlarged, attaining a length of between ten and fifteen feet. The escape of gas was now tremendous, and the descent fearfully rapid and direct. The Professor leaped up amidst the rigging, designing to escape the shock which threatened the car upon reaching the ground. The ear struck the ground with tarrible force, the balloon, completely collapsed, fell, and the Professor was thrown violently backward over the car, his back striking the rim ward over the car, his back striking the rim and nearly knocking him senseless. He lay hardly able to move, for half and hour, when he was discovered. Such was the violence of the shock that his watch bounded from his pocket, and, being torn loose, was thrown several yards away. Prof. Wise was not seriously injured.

HENRY WARD BESCHER BOXING WITH THE BENICIA BOY.—A New York correspondent

Banicia Boy.—A New York correspondent says:

On dit, that the Benicia Boy, with his trainer, Jack Macdonald, who have recently been giving the Brooklya people a laste of their quality, called upon Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, a few evenings since, to pay their respects. Mr. Recher received the eminent bruisers with his usual politeness. He said he perfectly agreed with them as to the necessity of improving the American physique by the development of muscle, but he had serious objections to the ring and its surroundings. He did not approve of prise-fighting, either, but had no objections to a flar and square round or two on Christian principles, with a view to promote the digestive faculties. Heeman then handed the pastor of Plymouth Church a pair of boringglovos, and they do say the use he made of them fully persuaded his visitors that Mr. Beecher, with a little practice, would be as excellent a muscleman as he is a prescher.
